MEMO FOR THE RECORD

On December 13, 1978, Jim Conzelman of the Select Committee on Assassinations called and asked what was the weight of the bullet known as 399. I called Jim Gear, and he said that the bullet had been weighed twice in the NARS labs. with the results 10.2231 and 10.2213, a difference which he said could be caused by variations in air pressure, humidity, or error. I called Conzelman and gave him those figures.
